Louisiana Insurance UPDATE

Vol. 6 No. 2

Fall 1999

This year's health care conference a smashing success, next one planned for September Y2K

Planning is underway for the Sixth Annual Health Care Conference, an annual event which has become the largest regional conclave of its kind.

"Our health care conferences have brought together the best minds in the field to advance new ideas and exchange information on related developments," said Commissioner Brown. "Our health care conferences have become a crucible for movers and shakers in the industry to test new ideas," said Commissioner Brown.

The Fifth Annual Health Care Conference, held recently at the Radisson Hotel, was an unqualified success with more than 1,000 participants in attendance.

The Louisiana Department of Insurance has been recognized as an aggressive leader in trying to find ways to offer better healthcare for thousands of citizens in Louisiana.

A Louisiana Supreme Court decision handed down in October protects Louisiana citizens who had health care claims improperly denied for pre-existing conditions during a 15-month period beginning Jan 1, 1993.

"In other words," Commissioner of Insurance Jim Brown said, "if you became covered by an employer group health plan after 1993, you may have had a two-year limitation on pre-existing conditions. However, the Legislature shortened the period of time the pre-existing condition limitation was in effect from two years to one. It was the Insurance Department's position that an employee hired after Jan. 1, 1993, and covered by such an employer policy would only face a one-year pre-existing condition limitation, regardless of when the group contract was issued. The Supreme Court agreed," he said.

Brown said he is confident the decision will aid in remedying some of the problems the state has with the large number of underinsured people. "This ruling could benefit thousands of Louisianians," said Brown. "It gives much more coverage to those who have been excluded."

Louisiana Department of Insurance rejected rogue financier

Martin Frankel, the financier who is believed to have been responsible for billions of dollars in securities losses, is thought to have tried to ply his deal-making in Louisiana last year, but his representative went away empty handed after refusing to disclose his financial sources.

Louisiana Insurance Commissioner Jim Brown said, "We feel that a man, who identified himself as Larry Martin and came to Louisiana to buy an insurance company, is linked to Frankel."

"After we started asking questions . . . Mr. Martin, or whoever he was, left and we haven't heard of him since."

Martin met with Louisiana insurance regulators, including Brown's financial solvency chief, last November to discuss buying a Louisiana insurance company. Martin claimed to handle investments for a group of insurance companies, including Franklin American Life Insurance Company, through a consultant named David Rosse. It is now known that David Steven Rosse is one of the aliases used by Frankel. Other aliases he used include Steve "Marty" Rothschild, Eric Stevens, Robert Guyer, Michael King and Fausto Fausti, according to his arrest warrant and other sources.

in 1995

During his meeting in Louisiana, Martin expressed an interest in acquiring United Life and Annuity Insurance Co., an insurer then based in Baton Rouge and up for sale by its owner, PennCorp. United, once owned by United Companies Financial Corp of Baton Rouge, had $1.4 billion in assets at the end of the 1998, according to its financial statement.

"After we started asking questions about the source of his money, Mr. Martin, or whoever he was, left and we haven't heard of him since," said Commissioner Brown. Martin proposed using money from Luxembourg via the British Virgin Islands to buy a Louisiana company. Pressed for details about the source of the money, Martin told Louisiana regulators that was confidential information.

"We have a highly trained professional staff on board with the expertise and resources needed to spot financial trouble early on. My Deputy Commissioner of Financial Solvency, Craig Gardner, and his staff have looked at more than one proposal with a jaundiced eye.

After a four-month international manhunt, Frankel was arrested in Hamburg, Germany, and is now awaiting extradition back to the U.S. Not waiting for his return, Arkansas, Tennessee and Mississippi have already initiated legal proceedings against Frankel and officials of Frankel-affiliated insurance companies.

Commissioner Brown urges early shopping, timely buying for those losing Medicare HMO coverage

Commissioner of Insurance Jim Brown recommends a strict shopping and buying timetable to thousands of Medicare beneficiaries who will lose their Medicare HMO coverage effective Dec. 31.

"Approximately 16,000 people will no longer have the option of being covered under a Medicare HMO," Commissioner Brown said. "However, they will automatically be covered under the traditional Medicare program effective Jan 1. In addition, they have the guaranteed right to buy either one of four Medicare supplement insurance policies also effective immediately," he said.

Commissioner Brown recommended the following timetable to all 16,000 affected Medicare HMO beneficiaries interested in buying Medicare Supplement Insurance:

- Shop your options now. Medicare Supplement policies are available all over the state.
- Make your decision now. Decide what medsup policy you are going to buy as soon as possible.
- Be sure the agent makes your new policy effective Jan. 1 and not before. Your Medicare HMO coverage will be good through Dec. 31.

"We regret that the Medicare HMOs involved are unable to continue participating in the Medicare+Choice program," said Commissioner Brown. "However, the important thing to remember now is that all those losing Medicare HMO coverage are eligible to enroll in any one of the four most common Medigap policies sold in the state regardless of their age or the state of their health."

"We at the Department of Insurance will use our full regulatory power to see that all companies selling Medigap coverage in this state comply with the law," Brown said. "Anyone who feels he or she is being treated unfairly by any agent or company selling Medicare Supplement insurance should call the Department's Senior Counseling Program, SHIIP (Senior Health Insurance Information Program), toll-free, 1-800-259-5300," he said.

To help ease the transition for affected beneficiaries, Department of Insurance SHIIP representatives, along with representatives of Social Security, Louisiana Medicare Part B and the Louisiana Peer Review Organization, are conducting free "Medicare 101" seminars statewide to explain the available options. In addition, the Department's Office of Health Insurance has instructed the HMOs to set up local meetings in the areas of the state where they are discontinuing service.

Commissioner Brown signed Uniform Treatment Declaration

Commissioner Jim Brown signed the Uniform Treatment Declaration effective July 30, 1999. This agreement creates barrier-free reciprocity to non-resident producer licensing with other participating states.

In the past, obstacles such as countersignature laws have prevented non-resident producers from operating in the same manner as resident producers. Commissioner Brown's legislation, which repealed the countersignature provision, passed during the 1999 Legislative Session.

The Uniform Treatment Declaration is the National Association of Insurance Commissioner's coordinated approach to achieving greater uniformity in the non-resident licensing process, as well as addressing restrictions on sales and solicitation by non-resident producers.

The motive for the Declaration has been the threat of federal legislation that would effectively eliminate what many consider an out-of-date and difficult process of meeting separate license requirements in every state. Federal infringement into the licensing arena would seize much of the states' producer licensing authority.

Agent charged in fraud scheme with counterfeit insurance cards

Leonard Frank Giovingo of Independence was arrested and charged with felony theft, forgery, misappropriation of insurance premiums, insurance fraud and automobile insurance fraud. (Insurance fraud and automobile insurance fraud are covered in two separate statutes.) The arrest was the result of an ongoing investigation of State Police, Department of Insurance fraud investigators and the National Insurance Crime Bureau.

“This is a major investigation into fraudulent activities and the efforts are continuing so we can determine the magnitude of this unlawful operation,” said Commissioner Brown.

The suspect issued counterfeit proof of insurance cards frequently using the name of Imperial Fire and Casualty Insurance Co. or Republic Insurance Co. of Dallas, Tex. “The truth is that this person is not the authorized agent of any property and casualty insurance company, and therefore cannot legally sell automobile insurance for these companies,” said Commissioner Brown.

The suspect allegedly issued bogus insurance cards, but did not issue actual policies. “This is a variation of a frequent fraudulent scenario in which agents pocket premiums and don’t forward the money to an insurance company to issue a policy,” said Commissioner Brown.

“This may be the most comprehensive insurance fraud scheme involving automobile insurance that we have seen so far.”

Investigators have information that the suspect directed persons, who purchased what they thought was insurance coverage from him, to the body shop to repair wrecked vehicles. Investigators believe that persons whose vehicles were damaged by the suspects “policyholders” were also directed to the body shop, Commissioner Brown said. Some victims’ cars have been at the body shop for extended periods of time without repairs being completed, Commissioner Brown said evidence indicates.

“This may be the most comprehensive insurance fraud scheme involving automobile insurance that we have seen so far,” said Commissioner Brown. “It appears that victims not only were defrauded out of their insurance premiums but also were victimized a second time when their vehicles were brought in for repairs that were not completed at all or not completed in a timely fashion,” he said.
